THE MYSTERY OF THE NAME SAIRU

A long time ago, in the distant lands of Bandarban, there was a beautiful young Mro maiden called Sairu. She was the daughter of the king of a mountain tribe. She passionately falls in love with a young man, the son of the king belonging to another hill tribe. Love knows no boundaries or restrictions thus eventually the elders got wind of the affair and angered by it they took extreme measures. The young man was hurriedly married off to a girl from his tribe and Sairu left alone to grief. Heartbroken and desolate it is told that Sairu would roam the forest alone until one day when she was no more!

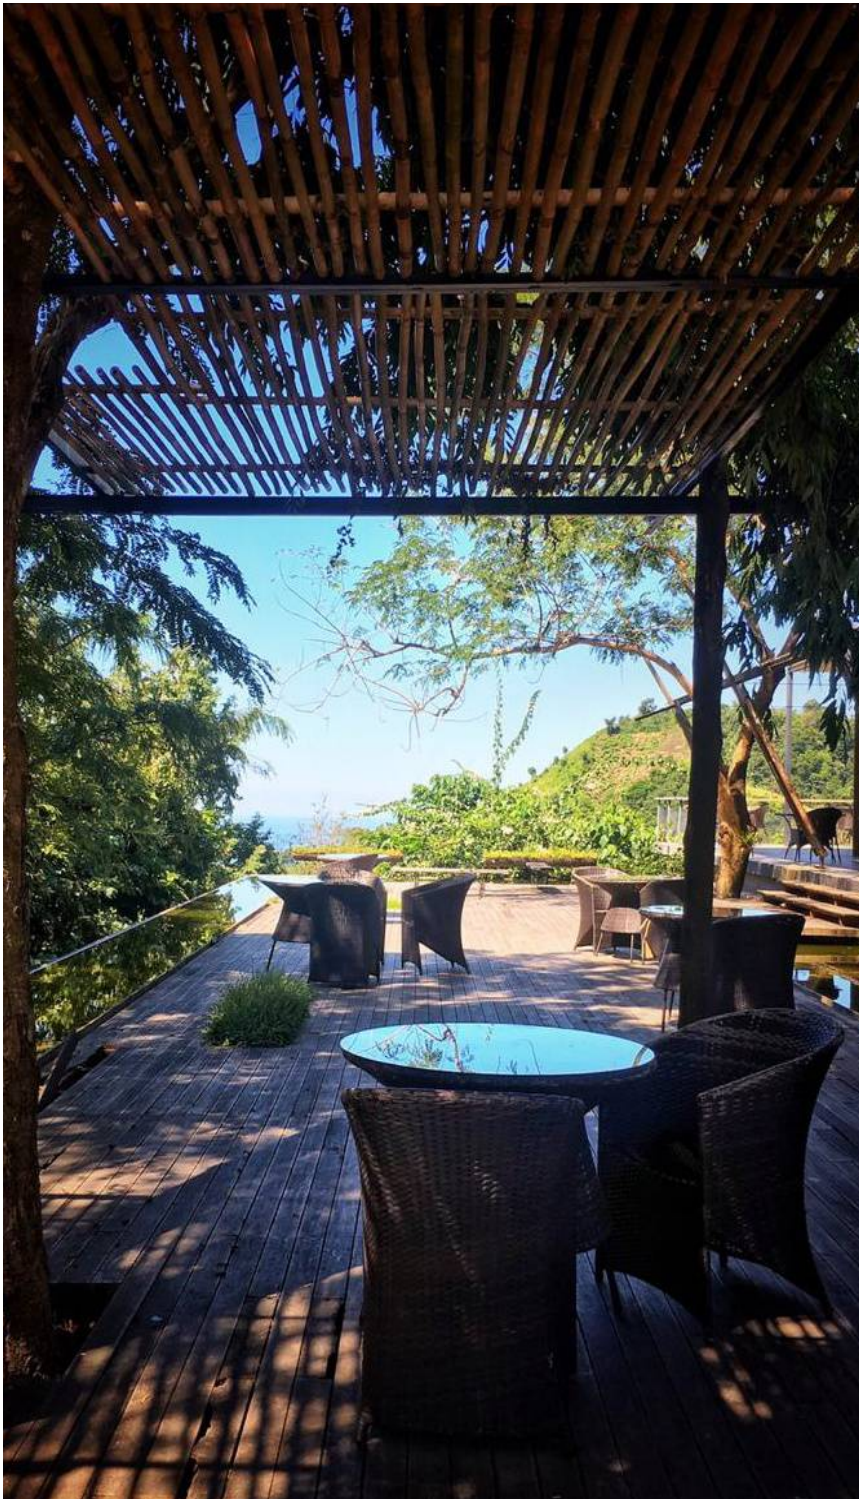

Two trees that grew on the hills entwined at the crown on a spot along the top of the Resort site is said to symbolize the love of Sairu. Today that spot is known as the SAIRU Point. The complex, Sairu Hill Resort, draws its name from this Mythical Love Story and the logo from the two trees.
